Treatments and side effects described in this book may not be applicable to all people; likewise, some people may require a dose or experience a side effect that is not described herein. Drugs and medical devices are discussed that may have limited availability controlled by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for use only in a research study or clinical trial. Research, clinical practice, and government regulations often change the accepted standard in this field. When consideration is being given to use of any drug in the clinical setting, the healthcare provider or reader is responsible for determining FDA status of the drug, reading the package insert, and reviewing prescribing information for the most up-to-date recommendations on dose, precautions, and contraindications, and determining the appropriate usage for the product. This is especially important in the case of drugs that are new or seldom used.

This book is dedicated to all practicing, new, and student advanced practice providers. The task of transitioning from a bedside nurse or a provider and learning procedures performed in primary and urgent care setting is daunting for most new advanced practitioners and students. With fewer hours in a day to study to master new concepts and skills while in graduate school, this book provides an easy and profound way to learn about procedures and skills that advanced practice providers students will perform while in graduate school in their clinical setting and upon graduation. Evidence-based guidelines and clinical checkpoints are incorporated throughout the book to ensure students learn up-to-date research with each skill performed.

I wrote this book because as a nurse practitioner student, I found a dearth of resources on procedures and skills performed by advanced practice providers in primary and urgent care settings. I hope you find the content useful and pertinent, as I have.

Yours in knowledge,

-Dr. Obi Oji

Acknowledgments

Having a thought and turning it into a book is as hard as it sounds. A very special thanks to Dr. Eileen Giardino, who brought me under her wing as my mentor. Your kindness and patience with reviewing the manuscript and always saying yes cannot be quantified. Thank you for introducing me to the world of academia and being there when I needed you the most.

To my family. I'm eternally grateful to my mom and dad, who taught me about the ways of the Lord, discipline, tough love, manners, respect, and so much more that has helped me succeed in life. Thank you to my best friend Tonia; my brother Dozie; and my sisters, Nnenna and Ify. My in-laws, Grandpa Theo and Grandma Mary, Val and Ifi—thank you all. You stood by me during every struggle and all my successes.

To my husband Tony: For always being the person I could turn to all through the years. You sustained me in ways that I never knew I needed. You are the wind beneath my wings. To my son, Jason, and daughters, Adaora and Michelle: thank you for always being so encouraging. You three make my life so rich.

Thanks to everyone on the Jones & Bartlett Learning team who helped me so much. Special thanks to Tina, the ever-patient publishing manager; Paula, my content strategist; Maria and Troy for your guidance; and for the best cover designer, Briana Yates, I could ever imagine.

I want to thank God most of all because without God I wouldn't be able to do any of this.

Dr. Obi Oji
